CITY OF HUNTINGTON

HYDRANT FLUSHING PROGRAM 2018

*Public Works to Begin Flushing Neighborhoods
Throughout the City*

Dates: February to July 2018

Days: Monday through Friday

Times: 8am to 4pm

Utilities Division Office: 714.536.5921

Starting Monday, February 26 through July 2018, the City of Huntington Beach Public Works Utilities Division crews will perform hydrant flushing throughout the city. Although it may appear to be wasting water, this flushing is part of a routine maintenance program necessary for ensuring the highest quality drinking water to our customers and to help maintain the performance of our water distribution system for fire safety.

As a result of the flushing operations, customers in the immediate vicinity of the work may experience a temporary discoloration of their water. This discoloration is a result of harmless silt, mineral sediment, and air, which do not affect the safety of the water.

A precise schedule of flushing operations is difficult to determine more than one or two weeks in advance. All dates listed below are tentative and may be changed at any time due to unplanned, high-priority activities. Crews typically perform flushing Monday-Friday 8am-4pm. Please regularly check back to our online Hydrant Flushing Calendar to view our crews as they travel through the city. For more information, visit:

Zone 1 Residential Maintenance Project

Zone 1 is bounded by Magnolia Street, Indianapolis Avenue, Brookhurst Street and Pacific Coast Highway. Public Works Maintenance Operations has finished the tree removal/trimming and concrete replacement in this zone to date. The next step is to construct new ADA ramps at intersections then perform the pavement rehabilitation and/or slurry seal of the residential pavement in this zone and is expected to be completed by July this year.

OFFICE OF BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

Visiting Local Businesses

As part of the continuous effort to keep Huntington Beach a Business Friendly Community, City Council and staff from the City Manager's Office and the Office of Business Development visit businesses to determine how to retain and expand local businesses. Last week, Council Members Lyn Semeta and Patrick Brenden, along with Business Development and Building Staff, visited Lanic Aerospace to discuss their needs. A new business in Huntington Beach, Lanic has already doubled the size of their operation within the City. Lanic's mission is to use technology and best practices to deliver the highest quality flight ready aircraft components, assemblies, and engineering services. The City is proud that Lanic has chosen to call Huntington Beach home! In addition, we are excited that parts manufactured at Lanic Aerospace are on the Space X Falcon Heavy Rocket.

LOCAL BUSINESS HEADLINES

POLICE DEPARTMENT

Crime Victims' Rights Week is an annual commemoration that promotes victims' rights and services. It was established by President Ronald Reagan in 1981 as a part of an expanding initiative to provide for victims of crimes. This year's theme from the Office for Victims of Crime is, "Expand the Circle: Reach All Victims."

Each year the Huntington Beach Police Department recognizes and remembers victims of crime and their families with a ceremony at the pier. This year's event will be held during the week of April 8-14, so stay tuned for more details regarding this important occasion.

We also support Crime Survivors of Southern California, which is an organization to help victims of crime recover from their experiences mentally, physically, emotionally, and financially. They are sponsoring a "Survive & Thrive" 5K Run/Walk on Saturday, April 14, 2018. Please save the date and plan to attend the Hopeful Healing for Survivors Run/Walk and Health and Safety Expo. To sign up, go to: <http://surviveandthrivewalk.org/>

Many recent tragic events have affected us locally and nationally, including the recent Florida school shooting and the shooting that occurred in Las Vegas. Now is the time to get involved and support victims of crime and their families, who can have a long road ahead of them in the healing process.

A WHITE SHARK LIKES OUR BEACH, TOO!

A juvenile five-foot white shark has been a regular off the coast of Huntington Beach for approximately the last two weeks. “He’s been seen so often,” said Marine Safety Lieutenant Claude Panis, “I’m almost tempted to give him a name!”

Lifeguards have posted ‘Caution’ signs on the beach from Beach Boulevard to Dog Beach, warning visitors to enter the ocean at their own risk. Our lifeguards remind us that when you enter the water, you are literally entering a wilderness area. You may encounter all sorts of wildlife, such as sting rays, jellyfish, dolphins, and even a great white shark. They recommend that we enjoy the wildlife from a distance. If you see something potentially dangerous, exit the water and report it to a lifeguard. The ocean is there for us to enjoy, but we should always treat it with respect and use caution.

OCEAN LIFEGUARD TRYOUTS

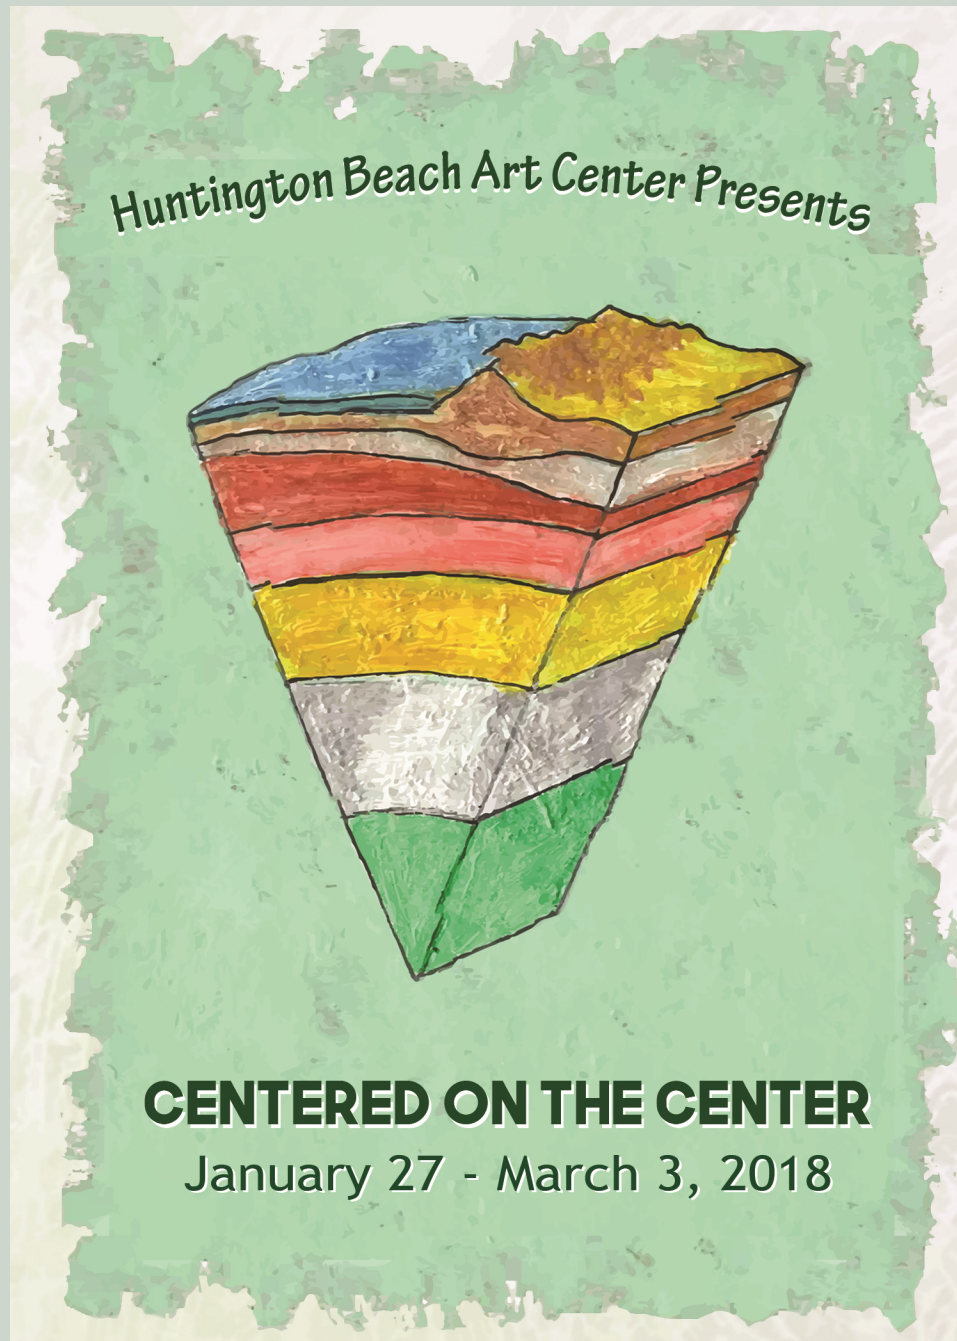

Ocean Lifeguard tryouts were held on Saturday, February 17, during beautiful weather at the Huntington Beach Pier. More than 50 applicants arrived to complete a 1,000 yard ocean swim, 500 yard ocean swim as a surf sprint, and a 1,500 yard run-swim-run. The top 40 applicants were invited to oral interviews on Sunday, February 18. Based on combined results, up to thirty applicants will be given conditional offers of employment and will start the Lifeguard Academy in April.

Each year, Marine Safety hires “at will” Ocean Lifeguards to assist full-time Marine Safety staff in providing first-line lifeguard protection of the City’s beautiful beach. Ocean Lifeguards perform ocean rescues, preventative actions, and provide medical aid as necessary. Safety at the beach is paramount, and these Ocean Lifeguards, in addition to Marine Safety personnel, patrol our beaches to ensure that residents and visitors can safely enjoy the surf and sand.

Find it all at the Branch Libraries – Books, Computers and even Chess!

Attention all book-lovers aged 18 and above! There's still time to prepare for the next installment of the popular Banning Branch Book Club, taking place on Thursday, March 15, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. The book to be read for this meeting is "The Jane Austen Book Club," by Karen Joy Fowler. This national bestselling 2004 novel, which was also made into a 2007 movie, centers on a book club consisting of five women and one man who meet once a month to discuss Jane Austen's six novels. Each of the six chapters is dedicated to one of the six book club members in relation to one of Austen's six works, paralleling the individual characters' experiences with relationships and love. This event is free to the public and will begin with refreshments at 5:30 p.m., followed by a thought-provoking book discussion at 5:45 p.m.

The Helen Murphy and the Main Street branches are pleased to report how popular their newly acquired "AWE Early Learning Literacy Station" computers have been with the pre-school through 3rd graders who visit their libraries! Just last month, due to a generous grant, the two branch libraries were the lucky recipients of new computers loaded with literacy and early learning games that focus on reading -- in a range of fun and engaging subjects such as math and science. Children and their parents are invited to come to either branch to try out these kid-friendly computers situated on kid-size tables with matching mini-chairs! There are even headphones included to facilitate a personalized and quieter experience. The Helen Murphy branch is located at 15882 Graham Street on the corner of Edinger Avenue, (714) 375-5006, and the Main Street branch is at 525 Main Street in downtown Huntington Beach (714) 375-5071. Can't make it to those branches? Don't worry, the Banning and Oak View branches have AWE Early Learning computers on site as well.

Finally, budding chess players are invited to the Oak View Branch Library to participate in the popular weekly Oak View Chess Club. The next meeting will take place on Friday, February 23, from 3:30 to 4:45 p.m. where children of all ages can come hone their skills at the library in a safe and supportive environment facilitated by an experienced chess instructor. New players especially are invited to the first Friday of the month meeting, which falls on March 2 (from 3:30 to 4:45 pm), where the focus will be on beginning chess skills and club orientation. The Oak View Branch Library is located at 17251 Oak Lane, and can be reached at (714) 375-5068.
